Handwritten text on a palm-leaf manuscript strip, likely in Tamil script. The text is arranged in two lines and includes a vertical separator line. The characters are finely etched into the surface of the dried leaf.

Handwritten text in a script, likely Tamil, consisting of several lines of characters. The text is written in dark ink on a light-colored, elongated palm-leaf strip. The characters are arranged in a roughly horizontal line, with some characters appearing to be stacked or written in a specific sequence. The script is cursive and characteristic of traditional South Asian manuscripts.

Handwritten text on a palm-leaf manuscript strip, likely in an Indic script. The text is arranged in a single line and includes several groups of characters, some with diacritics (dots) above them. The characters appear to be a mix of consonants and vowels, possibly representing a specific word or phrase. The script is finely etched into the surface of the leaf.

Handwritten text in an ancient script, possibly Sumerian or Akkadian, inscribed on a wooden tablet. The characters are arranged in a single line and include various symbols and signs.
